ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.
Under and by virtue of an order of the court of ordinary of Bulloch county, I will sell at public outcry on the first Tuesday in November, 1932, at the court house door in said county, between the legal hours of sale, all the following described real estate, to-wit:

One certain tract of land situated in the said state and county, and in the 4th G. M. district, containing one thousand eleven (1,011) acres, more or less, and bounded on the north by lands of Mary Robertson, east by lands formerly owned by Basil Jones and lands of W. W. Robertson, south by lands of John B. Wright and west by lands of P. T. Brown, J. W. Davis, Mrs. P. H. Cone and Zach Brown estate.

This sale being made subject to a prior loan deed in favor of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C. Terms, cash.

This 3rd day of October, 1932.

Administrator of the estate of R. H. Cone.

Sale Under Power in Security Deed.

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.

Under authority of the powers of sale and conveyance contained in that certain deed to secure debt executed and delivered by the late John J. Scott to The Georgia Loan & Trust Company on June 1, 1916, recorded in deed book No. 267, page 287, in the office of the clerk of the superior court of Bulloch county, Georgia, the undersigned, The Georgia Loan & Trust Company, will, on November 8th, 1932, within the legal hours of sale, before the court house door in Statesboro, Bulloch county, Georgia, sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the 1523rd G. M. district, Bulloch county, Georgia, containing eighty-eight acres, more or less, bounded on the date of said deed as follows: North by lands of J. M. Merritt and Charles Thompson, east by lands of Della Smith, south by lands of John Hurrey and west by lands of W. J. Scott, being known as Lot No. 3 of the W. M. Scott lands, according to plat made by H. J. Proctor, Jr., surveyor, and recorded in the home place of the said Arthur J. Scott.

Said sale to be made for the purpose of enforcing payment of the indebtedness secured by said deed to secure debt, now past due, amounting to $800.00, computed to the date of sale, with the expense of advertising and sale. A deed conveying the land to the purchaser at said sale, subject to any unpaid taxes against the said property.

This October 11, 1932.

COUNTY AGENT

There are five important planks which should be in the county agent's platform for Bulloch county: Cheap fences, improved grazing, more forage crops, pure-bred sires and control of parasites.

1. If our soils are so poor that they will not produce feed economically the livestock producer loses money from the fact that he cannot produce if we can produce good yields of corn, hay, oats and other feed crops at a low cost, it gives the animals an opportunity to make money for the producer. Under a system of livestock farming there is a gradual improvement in soil fertility, but at the start the animals should not be expected to make money on poor land where low crop yields are obtained.

2. Many of our grazing areas are not efficient, containing, usually, only a few wild grasses, mostly unpalatable and unproductive. Our grazing areas can be greatly improved by the use of the mowing machine and by seeding better grasses—particularly legumes, such as lespedeza on uplands and white clover on lowlands. It is possible thus to make more than double their carrying capacity.

3. Pure bred sires are very important—particularly for swine, which should have access to some good forage every month in the year, by which the grain consumption can be reduced by approximately one-third. It has been said that the sire is half the herd, but generally speaking, he is more than half the herd, because his blood lines are more concentrated and scrubs have been weeded from his family for several generations. There is probably not a more economical and practical way of bringing in greater returns from the raising of animals than by the use of pure-bred sires.

5. The average farmer has no idea how much toll is being taken from his herd as a result of the ravages of internal and external parasites. If modern methods of sanitation are used and the animals are changed from one pasture to another frequently, the great bulk of this damage can be prevented. We cannot expect the animals to make efficient use of the feeds when thousands of minute parasites are tapping the blood stream and taking their toll.

The fact that Savannah retailers sold to the consumers some 12,207,000 pounds of pork, cured meat, sausage and lard in 1931 and of this amount only 3,407,000 pounds were supplied by local farmers indicates that there is a strong local market for our hog products provided we process this commodity as the consumer wants it. We are too near this market to have any competition from the Corn Belt pork growers for the other 8,799,000 pounds of the animal.

In growing enough hogs to meet this demand we can market our excess feed in the form of meat, which will in most cases return more for these crops than when marketed as raw products. Hogs also often give a market for some products that otherwise be marketed; such as green corn when grown for early market, watermelons and potatoes. With corn selling at 20 cents per bushel it is very desirable to feed it to hogs and receive more per bushel for this crop.

We are having quite a few calls for certain vegetables, nuts and other crops. Farmers who have having difficulty in locating a market for such products may list with me and I will try to locate a market. However, we do not promise to sell the commodities, but will do our best.

Fasting and Prayer

At Lower Mill Creek

Greeting, Dear Brethren and Sisters: Let us all agree to come together and hold a fast and prayer meeting at Lower Mill Creek church on Thursday, November 3rd.

"That, that is too hard for thee, bring to me, the Lord, in prayer"—Luke 5:33.

Then shall they fast in those days.

This invitation to all. Let us love things that make for peace.

Cliponreka School

Observe Halloween

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Halloween entertainment at Cliponreka school on Friday night, October 28th, at 8 o'clock. A delightful program will be rendered by the pupils and refreshments will be sold during the evening.

The P. T. A. quilt which is on display at Waters & McCrae, will be given away at this time.

Mrs. Kate Kelham, of St. Louis, was arrested for stealing altar vessels in five churches.

Warnock School

This week ends the first month of our school year. Our enrollment is steadily increasing. We are looking forward to a complete, splendid school term, for all seem to be doing all in their power to make it a success.

The fourth grade is doing very well in their history note books. Last week there were only two who received prizes for making one hundred in arithmetic every day during the week.

The eighth grade civics class is using as one of its projects collecting clippings from various newspapers on topics of civic importance. These items will be preserved and presented to the library at the end of the term. They are also working on out-door projects in general science.

The ninth grade is collecting the living specimens studied in their biology and are finding this method of study very interesting and profitable.

We are steadily getting our supply of wood and have planned to get wagons and haul the wood for those who have no means of getting it to the school.

We have recently gotten a new supply of window shades which adds greatly to the appearance of the rooms.

Portal School

The total enrollment of our school as we went into the fifth week had reached 532, which is about 10 more than we had entered at the same time last year. We have 10 teachers, and both students and teachers are striving to make the best attendance record the school has ever made.

Our trucks are overloaded and two are compelled to make two trips a day to accommodate all the students that have to be transported.

S. A. Newton, director of athletics, is busy with the basketball team. He is assisted by Miss Hazel Watson and Miss Mary J. Bowen. We will probably have a game the latter part of this week.

The student council is busy engaged collecting information for the first issue of the school paper, the Portal Petrel. They are hoping to have out the first issue by November 4th. We are indeed proud of our student council and feel that it would be impossible for our school to function without that organization. They have accomplished a great deal for the school and the community in the last two years and are planning for this year to be the greatest in their history.

On Friday night of this week we are planning a Halloween party for the entire school and community. We cordially invite every patron and enjoy the fun with us.

Hallowe'en Party

At West Side School

Our pals are a black cat, a witch and a bat. And we know where the ghosts and goblins are at. So, from what we have heard and things we've seen, You'll get some thrills this Halloween. If you come to West Side at eight fifteen.

The following program will be given: Music—S. G. T. C. Orchestra. Introduction of Ghosts. Reading, "Little Orphan Annie." The Ghost Gallery. The Ghostly Romance. Music—S. G. T. C. Orchestra. Story, Ghost and Negro. Tap Dance. Hallowe'en Drill. Ghost Dance. Music—S. G. T. C. Orchestra.

After the program, which will be given free, refreshments will be sold at depression prices.

Stilton Juniors

Organize Farm Club

Seventy-six junior farmers in school at Stilton High School assembled Monday morning to organize a 4-H Club. This club will be federated with the Bulloch county 4-H Club.

These clubsters elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Roger Williams, president; F. C. Rozier, vice-president; Jack Reed, secretary, and S. A. Driggers, sponsor. Plans were made for the club to meet on second and fourth Wednesday mornings for an hour. This period will be devoted to studying the material things pertinent to these young farmers' demonstration projects. However, extra time will be provided for study of outdoor life, for recreation and for social work, and to tour each others' demonstration.

.. Nobody's Business ..

(By GEE MCGEE, Anderson, S. C.)

IF I WERE A CZAR
...If I were a Czar of the United States (but I ain't even a Czar in my own household), here's a few things I would undertake to do the first month of my Czarship:

...1. Abolish the Federal Reserve banking system. We haven't done much good since this system was created. If it has saved a bank or helped many banks, it didn't come out in the paper. It apparently operates on the Bull-in-the-china-shop plan.

...2. Repeal the last Tariff Act, be it good or bad. We insulted our foreign customers and chased them away from our shores by this ill-timed sale in the face and kick in the pants. We thought we had the world by the tail, I reckon; but if we did, the world wiggled it.

...3. Have an accounting with the farm board, make them turn over the $5.25 they have left of the $500,000 Uncle Sam gave them to operate on, disband the organization, send the boys (who busted us) straight back home and get down on our knees and ask the Good Lord to forgive us for ever starting such a thing... "Federal Aid."

...4. Wind up the affairs of the Federal Land bank, give the farmers back their lands, apologize for deceiving them, call in the 25,000 employees now paw-sucking the agricultural world and kiss them good-bye; and at the same time I think I would reduce the activities of the department of agriculture to the tune of about 90 per cent.

...5. Dispense with the I. C. Commission, and give the railroads back to their owners. Pay the bonus, if we owe it, and then have a better understanding with the World War veterans, cut out all useless officers and officers, employ about 1 person out of every 3 now leeching on the government, take the postoffice out of the freight and express business, and reduce federal expenses enough to permit business men to continue their business rather than be taxed to death.

...6. Stop spending ourselves into ruin and chaos, prevent and practice economy, deport all foreign Reds, cut our native Reds, reduce taxes, send the grifters to the pen, "FBI" all parasites, leave our rotten politicians at home, stop worrying about prohibition and booze, spend less on "lower" education, give the poor man a chance to permit the rich man to operate his business, substitute business methods for political schemes, and above all things: eliminate all so-called government relief agencies, as there ain't any such animal. And I'd quit trying to fool the public. And then out-law daylight-saving time.

...7. Bat rock brevities
...the jerry jones families has moved back to bat rock. he went to n. c. to take a job with the road builders construction company but owner could not hold down the time-keepers job, and besides that they ain't building the road no how, as they couldn't sell their bonds, as wall street has closed up all of the money for same.

...8. The ladies mission-nery society met last tuesday at the home of the bride's father, and it was turned into a shower for her, and her name was miss tessie lynn alpers before, but it is ivings afterwards... a peace was read by mrs. rupert green entitled: "how little wing foot got a kite, punch and crackers were served and many useful gifts were left with the new happy couple. Mrs. Mike Clark, rfd., gave a nice towel which was engraved from "m. C. to tessie."

...9. The red cross has helled up on giving out free flour unless you rally deserve same. the guys who have been swapping 34 pounds for 3 gallons of gasoline have been notified that they must pay for their grass with some thing else in the future, as the farm bored won't furnish wheat for nothing else except to be cooked and et, and it must not be used in the place of cash or checks. please be governed accordingly.

...10. jon smith's basement exploded again last night. he said was gas, and said it was too much yeast, but our poleman said he had no idea what it was, as mr. smith is a church deacon. one of his dogs was badly hurt, but the rest of the family escaped.

...11. the argument about who would be the next president, which took place in front of the drug store last monday and wound up at the city hall on tuesday created a right smart commotion, as bill sykes jerked out a butcher knife when ozie wilson reached for his pistol which he had left at home, and 2 men ran over one another and got hurt. the verdict was 25 each or 5 days, they both repeated to the higher court.

...12. at a recent meeting of the town council, a motion was made by warden smith, seconded by warden caper, to whitewash the inside of the call-boose, but it was tabled by the mayor who refused to put the motion. he claimed that this is no time to waste money whitewashing the jail, asserting that it is possible that the government will erect a fine federal building for the county and if they do they will no doubt include a nice jail with same. it was carried.

...13. the remains of joseph kerney was buried at rebeher last week and a nice bunch of flowers was put on him, the preacher explained that the corpse over which he was holding the funeral had been a constant member of rebeher till he moved to cedar lake in 1910, where he died a natural death, as no doctor could be reached. he left his wife and children to mourn his loss.

...14. miss jennie veeve smith had as her dinner guest last friday night a dr. buchman from up north. he has been spanking her for nearly 6 weeks and travels from place to place with his corn plasters which remove them in a single application. he removed hers one night. he is fine looking, but the boarding house lady says she has her doubts about him.

...15. a tourist drove thru flat rock on a recent date and got out to get a drink of water at the town pump, and he drove back in about 2 hours and said he had lost a diamond ring and while everybody in town was looking for same, it was picked up by archie bragg, the tourist wanted to reward archie, but he didn't have any ready cash, so he let archie cash a check for 208 and he give him 58¢ for his honesty. the check was returned by the bank and archie is looking for the miss-cant.

...16. the brittle party which went to the county seat to attend the big wedding of miss katie luo smart and mr. lee midderton reported a nice trip, but no refreshments were served and they did not get a bite to eat. the honeymoon will be spent away from home. she wore a beede dress from travelling and he had on a suit with shoes and tie to match. they are both assempled from long line of fine people who was imported from france before the reversioner. we wish them much joy anasothr.

...17. a series of diagrams will picture the progress of merchandising between 1883 and 1933. An 80-foot map of the United States will show in colored lights the location of Sears, Roebuck & Co. stores, factories and other activities.

...18. Plans of the Host building, prepared under supervision of Charles Herrick Hammond, state architect, show it will be of modernistic design to conform with other exposition structures, 200 by 100 feet, and distinguished by a 70-foot tower. There will be an auditorium, and lounge halls, and one of the interesting features will be an exhibit of Lincolniana.

...19. Erection of a Host building by the state of Illinois marks a break from exposition tradition. At previous world's fairs, each state had its own building, devoted largely to the reception of prominent visitors, the holding of state days and similar functions, as well as to the display of exhibits.

...20. At a Century of Progress, states excepting Illinois will hold their exhibits in one large structure—the Hall of States—work on which has already been started. The state of Illinois, acting as hostess to its sister states, will place its Host building at their service for receptions and other social functions. This arrangement will end the different states to devote their appropriations to interesting exhibits instead of architecture.

...21. The Blue Ribbon Cafe will be located opposite the third pavilion of the General Exhibits group which is nearing completion just south of the Hall of Science.

...22. In addition to the money to be expended on the buildings themselves, several times as much will be spent on the

COMING BACK WITH COTTON

Said the New York Times in a recent editorial: "Cotton has shown a greater price increase than any other basic commodity . . . It is what the economic historian would expect and what the moralist would approve. Three years ago we were beginning the slow and painful climb backward in cotton. We crashed with automobiles and silks and country houses and de luxe staircases to Europe. We begin to show signs of revival with cotton and pork and coffee and rubber and copper . . . That's worth remembering. The American people are showing an increasing regard for the old and time-tried necessities, at the expense of a few of the less valuable luxuries. Cotton and copper and pork and coffee have always had their place and always will have—a place that can't be usurped by country houses and de luxe staircases, pleasant as they are. In the instance of cotton, too, there is another phase to the subject. It is the action of the cotton producers in working out their problems. In the cotton states the co-operative movement has been making good progress and is showing fine results now and has magnificent potentialities. The co-operative associations, well managed, are demonstrating that overly low agricultural prices can be coped with. Old men show greater determination than young ones, especially when they set out to make fools of themselves."

SUICIDAL CHANCES

Accounts of suicides usually indicate a preference for the quickest and easiest way out of life. An exception comes from Cuba in a recent report stating that 65 girls, from 16 to 23 years of age, committed suicide in Havana during a three-week's period because they were disappointed in love or tired of living. Each soaked her clothing with alcohol and applied a match, choosing this painful death in accordance with a Cuban tradition. What a way to die! Americans rejoice that she has no such tradition. Perhaps a Cuban would conclude, however, that many of our citizens take suicidal chances with fire, when he reads that 16,000 persons are killed by fire annually and as many more are injured. Americans take chances with fire by permitting faulty construction of hollow walls, unsafe chimneys, heating plants and roofs, and by neglecting rubbish. Factories and business buildings contain certain unprotected vertical openings, hazard manufacturing processes, and lack sprinkler systems. The remedies for these hazards are often simple. In fact, it is difficult to visualize a fire that could not have been prevented had correct conditions been maintained—conditions that would at least retard the spread of the fire, holding it in check until the firemen could arrive. Perhaps we will no longer take "suicidal chances" with fire when fully informed on this subject. It is the duty of those who know to spread the information. Newspapers, mail and outgoing news dispatches are rigidly censored in Jugoslavia, where even telephone conversations are spied upon.

SCHOOLBOY PATROLS

Four times a day more than 150,000 youngsters in 800 American communities guide their classmates in the crossing dangerous street and highway intersections safely. These youngsters make up the "Schoolboy Patrols." Theirs is a commendable and important work. One of the fastest growing phases of child safety education, it is one credited with some of the best results. Statistics show that child pedestrian fatalities have decreased 25 per cent in the last four years. This fine condition is reflected all along the line in the reports of individual cities—Washington, D. C., for example, having experienced no child pedestrian fatality in four years and only one or two minor injuries in districts patrolled by the "safety scouts." Reviewing the work of the school-

PEOPLE TO PASS ON REFUND MEASURE

WILL SAY WHETHER STATE SHALL REIMBURSE COUNTIES FOR ROAD CERTIFICATES.
Bulloch county is interested in the exact amount of $103,214.24 in a measure to be voted on at the November election. That measure is the one pertaining to the proposal to reimburse the various counties the amount they have expended in building state highways. Bulloch has to be credited, to be refunded in the event the measure becomes a law, the amount mentioned at the outset of this article. The Association of County Commissioners of Georgia is urging ratification of the amendment, pointing out that the counties will be repaid at the rate of 10 per cent annually the funds they have expended in building roads now a part of the state highway system. Such payments, the association makes clear, will go forward toward rehabilitation of the roads and make it possible to reduce burdensome taxes levied to take care of county bond issues. Payments to the counties are to be made from revenues allocated to the State Highway Department from the gasoline and motor vehicle license taxes. "The strongest argument in favor of this amendment is that it should tend to reduce taxes all over Georgia," the association says in a statement just issued through its president, M. W. Tift, of Albany. "The State Highway Department receives its revenue from the gasoline tax and the motor vehicle license tax. It will continue to receive this revenue, but if the amendment is adopted, a part of these funds will be used to pay to the counties the debts which the state has recognized from the gasoline and motor vehicle taxes. Many counties issued bonds to build roads now a part of the state highway system. These bonds must be paid and unless the counties are reimbursed, as was originally intended when the highway system was established on its present basis, the taxpayers must be called upon to bear heavier burdens than ever before. Ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment will solve the financial problems of many counties throughout the state and at the same time will not hamper the development of the state highway system, since by 1936 the important traffic thoroughfares will have been completely paved." The amendment has been placed on the ballot, it is pointed out by the Association of County Commissioners, and is number eight.

A TAXPAYER'S PROSPECTS

Bureaucracy was firmly entrenched in Europe long before we thought of the word. Today the taxpayers of Europe are paying a terrific price for the vast multitude of services rendered by their governments. Much of the high taxes goes to pay for the bonded debt incurred during the war, or armaments still maintained, but much also goes for the social insurance and similar functions undertaken more recently. A Frenchman today pays about one-third of his income in taxes, which number nearly 200. If he has an income of $5,000, he must pay $1,666.66 in taxes. In a pleasant and interesting book, he must pay something like $820 in door taxes which are based on his income and his rent. Innumerable miscellaneous taxes add another $800 to his tax burden, although he may not be aware of the latter. When he goes to the theatre one-third of his admission is a tax. If he travels, 25 per cent of the fare is tax, and his hotel bill is taxed. Matches, cigarettes, servants, wines and a host of other things are subject to excise levies. We have not yet reached this point in the grim story of American taxation. But we are seriously close to it. Each year has seen the imposition of new burdens, with little or no effort to stem the tide of public spending. Unless a more determined stand is made by taxpayers, they will soon be in the position of their European brethren—Cincinnati (Ohio) Enquirer.

South Georgia Farm Methods Commended

Newman, Ga., Oct. 24.—Principles of farming in Tift, Colquitt and other counties of that section of South Georgia are those necessary for a profit to be secured in normal times, according to O. W. Passavant, executive of the New South Georgia Experiment Station. Each year he brought back first-hand information after a visit to the section. The primary condition or practice in that section, Mr. Passavant pointed out, is an intelligent use of the live-at-home idea plus adaptation of modern market methods. Each year he has been stating a greater progress toward a better processing of farm products for consumption; a better preparation for sale through improved packing methods, or an actual conversion to the form in which the product is marketed. "In a section naturally adapted to live stock and hogs, the first logical step was the erection and operation of a plant to place meat products in saleable form," Mr. Passavant said. "The Moultrie plant, first organized and operated locally, was an appropriate and timely move. The market facilities for live stock were ahead of the plant's local or territorial supply of cattle and hogs, and for a time the whole southeast was secured for suitable packing stock and hogs. Gradually, however, the condition deteriorated as the result of a tremendously increased attention to the raising of live stock and hogs in the Moultrie area, and now the owners of the plant are enlarging its capacity to care for a meat supply coming from relatively close-by points. One of the fastest growing phases of child safety education, it is one credited with some of the best results. Statistics show that child pedestrian fatalities have decreased 25 per cent in the last four years. This fine condition is reflected all along the line in the reports of individual cities—Washington, D. C., for example, having experienced no child pedestrian fatality in four years and only one or two minor injuries in districts patrolled by the "safety scouts." Reviewing the work of the school-

HAVE GOVERNMENT PUR-CHASE 10,000,000 BALES.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 30.—Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, can see no reason why the government should not protect the cotton farmer by congressional appropriations in the same way it underwrites railroads, banks and insurance companies.

With that in view he plans to ask the next congress to make available a half-billion dollars for the purpose of preventing a surplus crop in 1933 by purchasing 10,000,000 bales "from the present supply" and holding it off the market.

Senator Smith's plan is intended, if enacted into law, to have the effect of controlling production of the nation's greatest cash crop by legislation, and one of the requirements is that cotton growers sign an agreement to curtail their next year's crop and insurance companies agree to buy the 10,000,000 bales of cotton already in hand, then offer it to the farmers at the same price it paid upon condition they signed contracts to reduce their 1933 crops 50 percent.

As an illustration, he says, a farmer who produced 100 bales this year would sign an enforceable contract with the government that in 1933 he will not produce more than 50 bales. The government then would sell him 50 bales at the price which the government had paid in retiring the 10,000,000 bales from the market.

"Having eliminated 10,000,000 bales from the present supply," the senator explained, "and providing through these contracts that next year's crop will be reduced 10,000,000 bales, we will have eliminated the surplus and provided for just a normal surplus for the fall of 1933."

"The government would be authorized to dispose of this cotton, and when it does so, the purchase price plus a reasonable overhead, is to be charged. The money obtained from sales, after deducting the overhead, is to be given to the producers—that is, all profit above the purchase price and overhead charge is to be given to the producer according to the number of bales held in trust for him."

New Candidates in Race for Governor

Two new candidates in the race for governor add spice to that contest this week. They are C. C. Atkins and Fred E. Lanier, both of whom live in Statesboro, J. P. Boyd announced last week, by which it is seen that a triple race is on. Willis Barnes, now in the primary last spring, has formally withdrawn his name, giving as his reason his proposed removal from the county. On the official ticket there will be a blank space in which to write the name of your choice.

"Poppy Day" To Be Observed Thursday

"Poppy Day" will be observed Statesboro, Thursday, November 16. The Dexter Allen Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary is completing preparations for the annual sale of poppies with the hope of placing a memorial poppy on the graves of the men, women and child in the city.

The memorial poppy is a replica of the poppies which grew on the battlefields of France and Belgium during the World War. They are made by disabled veterans working in hospitals and workrooms under the patronage of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Every penny you drop in the box of the "Poppy Sellers" on November 10th is used to support the work of the American Legion Auxiliary in the welfare of the disabled veterans, their families and the families of dead soldiers in Bulloch county.

The purchaser can be sure that it is buying a veteran-made American Legion and Auxiliary poppy by the American Legion Auxiliary label on the poppy. The poppy means, "honor the dead and serving the living."

"MIRACLE MEN" TO ENTERTAIN ON EVENINGS OF NOVEMBER
16TH AND 17TH

Fayssoux, known as the "Miracle Man," who seems to do the impossible, will appear in an engagement in Statesboro under the auspices of the senior class of the High School, November 16th and 17th.

Fayssoux has appeared before the public during the past thirty years.

He received his introduction to hypnotism and telepathy at a performance in his home town in Gastonia, N. C., 38 years ago. After seeing the results he was greatly interested.

Then he began to read everything he could find on this subject and practiced around the neighborhood.

Two years later he astonished the residents of Gastonia by driving a pair of spirited horses at top speed over a rough road and being unharmed.

Since then he has toured the world as the "Great Fayssoux" and has never failed to completely mystify his audiences.

In the field of telepathy, Fayssoux occupies a unique place, no other person was ever chosen to this profession.

To realize fully the heights he has attained in achieving this position of prominence in the mysterious and fascinating realm of communication, would take several years from the ordinary span of human life.

And even should one doubt the aid of any power of power. The numerous feats Fayssoux can perform with the aid of assistants trained to receive the slightest mental wish or the master mind, the observer is lost in a perfect mass of mystery and astonishment.

At the performance to be performed in Statesboro in which the artist Gene Chanel, blindfolded and seated at a piano on the stage, will play an selection made by any number of the audience immediately upon the artist commencing their mind upon the name of the selection. This is just one of the many of demonstrations in telepathy Mr. Fayssoux will offer during his engagement in the city.

Fayssoux will introduce one of the most interesting features of his engagement on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the driving of an automobile hidden blindfolded in search of a hidden postoffice key that a committee has previously placed in some unknown place. This drive will start in front of the court house and end when Fayssoux delivers a letter found in the postoffice and placed there by the committee. This exhibition of mental telepathy or mental suggestion will be absolutely free to the people of Statesboro.

F. W. DARBY IS PRESIDENT OF CIVIC ORGANIZATION FOR ENSUING YEAR.

At the Tuesday meeting of the Chamber of Commerce F. W. Darby was elected president for the ensuing year, and J. B. Everett, Hinton Booth and E. P. Jossey, vice-presidents. J. B. Everett was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Prince H. Preston was named general chairman of the program committee to plan for the annual ladies' night which is scheduled for the latter part of the present month.

Committees were also designated to assist the secretary in the promotion of the new membership campaign, which will be inaugurated during the present week and pushed forward to an early completion. These committees consist of the following members: Alfred Dorr, J. L. Mathews, T. J. Morris and Guy H. Wells, G. Armstrong West and Leroy Cowart, D. B. Turner and L. E. Tyson.

The membership committee announced plans to begin the work of placing names on mailing labels to complete the canvass as rapidly as possible. It was arranged that each one of the committees should be given a specific territory with a definite number of names to be canvassed during the week. It was planned to be a knock upon the territory or membership of the other committee, and that city will be thoroughly canvassed before the work is discontinued. The membership fee has been reduced to $5 per year, and it is needle that a number of the members have been obtained to meet the needs of the organization. It is believed that the enterprising business men of the city will promptly respond to the call and that the organization will shortly be placed upon a successful basis.

It was planned that the annual ladies' night will be held as soon as the membership campaign has been completed. Only those who renew their membership by the payment of the dues will be expected to participate in the affairs of the organization, socially or otherwise.

Home Destroyed By Morning Blast

The residence on South Main street occupied by Mrs. Nellie Basse and family and Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Walker was badly damaged by fire about 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. The fire originated in the roof apparently from a point from which a brick fall had been removed, it was said. The roof of the building was practically burned off.

W. C. Watson, of Buffalo, left $50,000 to his son on condition that never marry.

Mrs. Robert Ballard, aged 35 years, died at the family home on West result of burns received Friday morning while dressing her children before the fire. Internment was at Lower Black Creek church, near Brooklet, Monday afternoon. Besides her husband, deceased is survived by four young children. Before her marriage she was a Miss Murphy, daughter of the late R. M. Murphy.

Mrs. Ballard, when her clothing caught fire, had her back to the fireplace. Discovering herself in flames she ran to the home of D. C. White to seek her children. The flames spread as she ran and she was entirely enveloped in the blaze when she reached the White home. Mrs. White was badly burned in assisting to subdue the flames.

DAVIS CONVICTED OF SAFE BLOWING

JURY GIVES MAN BENEFIT OF LENIENCY WHICH JUDGE STRANGE DENIES.

Found guilty of the charge of blowing the safe at South Georgia Teachers College, J. B. Davis was last night recommended by the jury to be punished with a fine of $100. The recommendation would have meant a service of not exceeding one year. Ignoring the recommendation, Judge Strange gave him a two-year sentence. It is understood that the jury's recommendation was a compromise between two recommendations which would have given him the limit of the law and the other of which would have released him.

Davis is alleged to have been associated with another man who gave him the name as B. J. Donaldson and the two were seen together in Statesboro several times during the past spring and summer.

On June 6th the safe at South Georgia Teachers College was broken open and $2,396 in cash taken. Early in September the grocery store of Alvin Dorman, a well-known merchant, was heavily robbed. Suspicion for this robbery pointed to a young man who had been seen riding in a new Graham automobile, and word of this suspicion was conveyed to the sheriff's office here. The day following this case was observed on the streets of Statesboro. Deputy Sheriff Riggs and Alfred Dorman approached the driver, who, to evade trouble, drove away from them as the officer fired his pistol after the fleeing car. On the day following Miss Tommie Womack, a Black church member, was robbed by a man recently making her home in Savannah, drove into Statesboro in the Graham car. Officer Donaldson watched and arrested her as she was removing from the rooms at the Jackel Hotel some articles which had been left there by B. J. Davis. The woman carried a large quantity of nitro-glycerine and a quantity of dynamite.

At the hotel it was learned that Davis and Donaldson had occupied the room there on the night preceding the robbery of Dorman's place at Sylva.

Shirley Tillman held Miss Womack in custody and set out a dragnet for Donaldson and Davis. Some weeks later Davis was arrested in Waycross and had in his possession tools similar to those which had been found among the Dorman place.

It has been held in Statesboro jail.

In yesterday's trial the star witness against him was a man named Payne held for safe-blowing at Brooklet about two months ago. Payne testified that Davis had admitted robbing the college safe, had described the manner of operation and had offered to pay Payne $200 if he (Payne) would confess to the robbery in a newspaper. Davis made a diagram, which was presented in court, showing the surroundings at the college, where Payne was at the time he was robbing of the act. Vester Mixon, another prisoner in jail, testified that he saw Davis make the chart for Payne.

Mrs. Wyatt, who operates a rooming house in Savannah, swore that Davis and Donaldson were rooming at her house; that Davis was absent from there on the afternoon and night of June 6th; that Donaldson was in his room under care

Public Main Sufferer If Railroads Suspend

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 24.—Either the railroads must be given a fair deal by subjecting their competitors to the same type of regulation to which the railroads are subjected, or the future of the country is black indeed, in the opinion of transportation expert who discussed the subject here this week.

"If the railroads go to the wall the public will be the principal sufferer—and it will suffer plenty," one of the experts declared. "No industry is more necessary to our social and economic well-being. Mr. Averas Citizen should realize that he is vitally interested in this situation."

Many, many moons have passed since the rails were able to earn the 5 per cent on their investment, he said, to be a fair return by the transportation act, it was pointed out here. The rails were returned to private hands after the war have earnings that high, it was stated. During the first six months of this year, for example, it was shown, their earnings were at the rate of but 1.01 per cent on their investment.

A statistical railroad summary for 1919-21 has just been issued and was made public here.

The principal deductions to be gained from it are that the rails had steadily lowered their cost of operation, have made remarkable progress in achieving further economies, had increased the speed and efficiency of operation, and had reduced the rates to both passengers and employees and have seen their earnings drop lower and lower.
